Croneal Consulting Group Releases Web Tutorial on Lobbying Portal, New 'Report Only' Option

WASHINGTON, D.C. -- February 23, 2009 -- Croneal Consulting Group has decided to educate prospective subscribers about the benefits of a subscription to its lobbying portal, or as an alternative, its lobbying reports only option.

The information and research services firm recently released a Web tutorial on its Web site, LobbyistResources.com, that educates individuals about the benefits of obtaining a full-year subscription to either its lobbying portal which costs $300/year or its newer reduced price lobbying reports only option, which costs only $84/year.

The Web tutorial walks visitors through slides on:

- A Real Simple Syndication (RSS) feed that integrates top news headlines on campaign finance and lobbying issues;
- Two subscription-based databases that track and report on campaign finance and lobbying laws and regulations;
- Free-and-premium-based drop-down menus of state and federal resources, such as 51-state surveys of campaign finance and lobbying laws, legislative and ethics contacts, and lobbying forms;
- An Event Database where lobbyists, their employers, and state agencies can post for free events specifically impacting the industry, such as ethics training seminars which are now mandated by some states;
- A premium-based Jobs Database that allows employers to post lobbying or government-related jobs. Job applicants access this feature for free;
- Legislative/Political Databases which are available for purchase; and
- A lobbying reports only option for companies that are on tighter budgets.
